

THOMPSON RECEIVES HIS WORST FROST YET IN OLD PRESTON

Meeting is Advertised But No
One Comes and He Pulls Up Stakes.

HATFIELD WELCOMED

And His Great Popularity is Found Even Greater Than at Primary.

TERRA ALTA, W. V., Oct. 7.—Terra Alta was not only the highest point in West Virginia today, but it was also the coldest point for the Democratic candidate for governor, W. R. Thompson. He was scheduled to speak here this afternoon and start a whirlwind invasion of Preston county, one of the banner Republican counties of the state.

Upon his arrival here this morning, Mr. Thompson was informed that although his meeting had been advertised, little interest had been aroused among the populace and the prospects of drawing out a crowd were so poor that it was necessary to call off the meeting.

It was one of the worst frosts the Democratic candidate has encountered on his tour. Mr. Thompson left here this afternoon for Kingwood, the county seat, where he hopes to get a crowd assembled tonight.

Dr. Hatfield and his party this morning started on the third week of their speaking campaign in the state and entered Preston county along with Mr. Thompson, the rival candidate for governor. Dr. Hatfield has lost none of his popularity in the county, since his being given a majority of 3,000 in the June primary. Instead the people have come to a greater realization of his worth and his statesman's like qualifications.

Dr. Hatfield spoke in the rural sections of the county this afternoon, addressing an enthusiastic throng of his admirers at Reedville. He and Abe Lilly were gratified by the warmth of the reception accorded them, and assurance was given them that Preston county would give its usual big majority. Tonight Dr. Hatfield will speak at Rowlesburg and a great meeting is anticipated.

It was expected that Congressman "Juney" Brown would join Mr. Thompson here today. Brown passed through but failed to stop off and it was said that he preferred to continue his campaign on the pussy-foot plan.

Osborn will greatly strengthen the football team, as he is in good condition and will not need a lot of training. He will try out for the end. This position is open now on account of the injury of James Heavner in the W. V. U. game Saturday afternoon. Heavner had an ankle badly sprained and will not be able to play for several weeks.

MURDER CASE WILL BE HEARD IN ZONE

Of Martial Law by the Court
Appointed by Governor
Glasscock.

CHARLESTON, Oct. 7.—The first murder trial to come before a military commission in the history of the state will be up Wednesday, when Ben Clendennin will be tried for the killing of Elwood Jefferson Saturday night at Decota. Both men are colored and miners and in the absence of the "Harrington," Clendennin used a heavy piece of scuffling.

Considerable interest attaches to this trial. Attorneys for the mine guards recently sought to test the constitutionality of the proclamation declaring martial law, but later withdrew the suit. The attorneys for the mine guards sent to prison contend that the sentences imposed were illegal. Whether they will again raise the question remains to be seen.

There are now good reasons to believe that by the end of the coming week few companies of militia will be in the field, and it is not improbable that all may be withdrawn. It will be necessary, of course, to protect property, and this may be done by watchmen and not by the present system of mine guards. Whether these watchmen will be designated as deputy sheriffs is not yet determined. To do so would give them authority to make arrests and better preserve the peace in the district. These men will have to be persons of whom citizens of the district have respect. Whatever the wishes of the coal operators may be, they will not be permitted to employ the guards they have had, although it is conceded that they have the right to protect their property.

VERDICT OF ACQUITTAL ASKED BY PROSECUTOR

In White Slavery Case Because Witness Had Made False Statements.

A white slavery case, in which Frank Wright alias Jack King was the defendant, came to an abrupt end at the afternoon session of federal district court Monday, when H. Roy Waugh, prosecuting attorney asked the jury to return a verdict of not guilty on the ground that no incriminating evidence had been adduced in the taking of testimony.

In explaining this course of the government, the prosecutor told the court that the prosecuting witness, Mary Girard, had either sworn falsely in testifying before United States Commissioner George E. Boyd at Wheeling and the federal grand jury here or on the witness stand, as certain statements made before the commissioner and the grand jury were contradictory to those made on the witness stand.

The defendant was indicted for transporting Mary Girard from Pittsburgh to Wheeling for an immoral purpose. In her testimony before the court and jury, she declared that she had stolen money from her aunt's house in Pittsburgh and had purchased tickets for the transportation of herself and a young man named "Puzzle," who escaped arrest, from Pittsburgh to Wheeling, where she lived both with "Puzzle" and with the defendant at different times in a rooming house there. Frank Wright accompanied them, but the witness denied that he had anything to do with her going from Pittsburgh to Wheeling. The jury returned a verdict of not guilty as requested and the defendant was discharged.

PRESSING PLANT IS AN IDEAL ONE

Heinze and Company Now
Occupy Their Modern
New Home.

Heinze and Company, known formerly as the Clarksburg Pressing Company, one of the best known and most reliable concerns in the state in its line of business, now occupies spacious and elegant new quarters. Its new home is located at the corner of Sehon street and Thaddeus alley in the rear of the Bell telephone building. The firm moved Monday and is now ready for getting the usual large business, but for the large increase, the new building and new modern equipment will amply bring.

The building contains three floors—basement, and first and second floors. It is made of concrete and is absolutely fire proof. It was designed especially for the business and the architect and builder have made it ideal. The rooms are all spacious, conveniently arranged, well ventilated and light as day until the sun sinks far below the horizon. And there will be no fumes there as a large fan is installed in the basement to carry them all of through a flue that extends to the top of the building.

In addition to the concrete construction, an underground gasoline system has been put in and this adds to the guarantee against fire. Thus the building is safe, its contents will always be safe, and there will never be any danger from the new home as a source of a blaze. All this takes it out of the usual risky class of cleaning establishments.

In the basement is a dry-cleaning room modernly equipped with machinery manufactured by the famous Troy Laundry Machinery Company. The outfit there includes two washers, a drier, two extractors and one dry-room tumbler. Another room in the basement is used for drying and wet cleaning with all modern devices and at one corner in this room is an electric motor, furnishing power and light used and in the rear in a separate concrete building is an upright boiler. Gas is not used in the building and this is another safety against fire.

A large room on the rear of the first floor contains three pressing machines, puff irons, ruffle irons and other equipment and pressing and sewing are done there.

The front room of the first floor.

BROAD OAKS CHIEF SHOT AT BY ITALIAN

rowly Misses Him He Declares.

R. C. Smith, chief of police of Broad-Oaks, had a warrant issued in Justice J. V. Carter's court Monday morning for James Clipetis charging him with shooting at him with intent to kill him Sunday night. Clipetis is in jail and will be given a hearing in a few days.

Clipetis and another Italian passed the chief at 9:20 o'clock in the new Goff addition. Both were drunk, the chief says. After they had gotten twenty yards away from him, one of them turned and shot at the chief, the bullet narrowly missing him. He gave chase and caught them. One was fined by Mayor Henderson Monday morning and the other jailed as stated.
